Policing Fails Oakland.

Critical Resistance Oakland is launching the Oakland Power Projects, an alternatives to policing initiative that engages Oakland residents to build community power and wellbeing without relying on the cops.

Critical Resistance Oakland has been hard at work fighting against the violence of policing and for community self-determination for more than ten years. Join us in this next phase as we dismantle the power of policing by investing in the real practices and resources we need. Learn more and get involved on March 11.
